Crew Services

Crew Training

The importance of superyacht security is as pertinent today as it has ever been. A yacht crew that adopts a robust on board security culture acts as a worthy deterrent to any potential security threat. Intrepid Risk Management delivers a varied range of security training to superyacht crews specifically tailored to suit the needs of your yacht.

Our security instructors derive from a military background with a wealth of experience and knowledge in maritime security operations. Additionally, Intrepid Risk Management can deliver maritime security courses accredited by the UK Maritime & Coastguard Agency. These courses include the ISPS Ship Security Officer (SSO), STCW Proficiency in Designated Security Duties (PDSD) and STCW Proficiency in Security Awareness (PSA).

Drug Screening

The use of illegal drugs poses a significant safety threat to the working environment and has a direct negative impact on the morale of employees. As part of their internal policy, employers should be committed to providing a safe, productive and healthy working environment for all employees.

Intrepid Risk Management provides a solution to this problem with our Drugs Screening service. Independent and impartial, we have the ability to conduct random drugs tests to superyacht crews anywhere in the world thereby maintaining a safe and harmonious working environment for all on board.

“Throughout this engagement, Intrepid Risk Management has provided a thoroughly professional security service. Their consultants were knowledgeable, polite and courteous and integrated very well with the crew. Overall a very professional outfit and I would have no hesitation in recommending Intrepid Risk Management in the future”

Superyacht Captain, Ireland

Close Protection / Asset Protection

The wealth, status, association or specific geographical location may leave some individuals, their families and their assets exposed to a multitude of security threats. Our executive protection services are designed to manage and mitigate the specific security risks of high net worth individuals.

Close Protection

Intrepid Risk Management provides effective security solutions tailored to suit the specific needs of the client. Recruited for their experience, conscientiousness and intelligence, our team of high calibre consultants are selected from a background of front-line UK military units.

Adaptable, astute and robust with excellent inter-personal skills, all of our Close Protection Officers are licensed, trained in first aid and have undergone extensive criminal record checks.

Robust yet discreet, our services ensure the safety and security of our clients' most valuable assets providing total confidence, peace of mind and reassurance.

Asset Protection

Intrepid Risk Management provides tailored solutions to physical protect valuable assets during delivery or transportation. Our expert consultants will liaise and formulate a plan tailored for your specific needs.

The implementation of a comprehensive risk assessment together with a detailed security plan will significantly reduce any threats and risks.

Whether it's art, jewellery, highly confidential information or personal belongings, our personnel can ensure that your valuables arrive safely at their destination.

Residential Security

Attacks on the properties of high profile individuals have been well publicised. The properties of senior executives, high net worth individuals, celebrities and people in the public eye are sometimes viewed as easy pickings for the criminally minded. Isolated premises can increase the vulnerability to attack.

Intrepid Risk Management can provide an additional and effective layer of security with our residential security teams. Operating overtly or discreetly, the physical presence of our teams can quickly deter and respond to any threat.

With a background in some of the UK's front line military units, our security personnel are robust, conscientious and approachable. They can provide protection to loved ones or protection to property whether occupied or vacant.

With full confidentiality assured and without intrusion into private life, our residential security teams are on hand to provide 24 hour protection to the personal and private interests of the client.

"On every occasion we have found them to be courteous, dependable and totally receptive to our specific needs; nothing is ever too much trouble. Their policies, procedures, industry certifications and accreditations ensure that they meet and surpass the required security industry standards"
